

4X Loan Application Proof of Funds Guidelines

In order to formally apply to the Global 4X Loan Program the borrower must provide a valid Proof of Funds (POF) for the required deposit amount that will generate the necessary loan amount to fund the project (that amount must correspond with the project budget). This is required in order to submit your loan application intake package.

There are multiple ways to provide your POF and the guidelines are outlined here.

1) Self Funded POF Requirements:

- a) The borrower provides a copy of their Bank Account statement that shows
 - i) The name and address of the bank
 - ii) The name of the account holder (needs to match borrower's details)
 - iii) The account balance
 - iv) The date of the account statement needs to be visible and current

2) Third Party Depositor POF Requirements:

a) INVESTOR

The borrower will need a letter from the investor who is providing the funds for the deposit. This letter needs to clearly state that they are making their funds available to the project to serve as the borrower's initial funds. The investor's letter should be on their company letterhead or on their personal stationary, if the investor is a private individual.

Along with the letter the investor needs to provide a copy of their account statement that clearly shows:

- i) The name and address of the bank,
- ii) The name of the account holder (needs to match the investor/company details of the letter)
- iii) The account balance (account number should be redacted)
- iv) The date on the account statement needs to be visible and current

b) LENDER

If the deposit is sourced from a formal lender rather than an investor, it may be possible, depending on their terms and how they are written, for the lender's Term Sheet to serve as the POF for the borrower's loan application intake package.

Attention: 4X Lender

Gentlemen:

Re: PROJECT NAME

After discussions with Borrower's NAME at Borrowing COMPANY NAME, I confirm my full expectation and plan to invest $XXX,000,000 USD in the project to serve as a 20% or 25% deposit in the above mentioned development project, based on Borrowing COMPANY's $000,000,000 USD loan application to your 4X Loan program.

Such $XX,000,000 investment is being made available to COMPANY to be placed as the loan loss reserve which will be held in the appointed bank account which we control. These funds will be used to produce the successful funding of a $000,000,000 4X Loan to COMPANY. Further these funds will remain unencumbered and undepleted for the full term of the Deposit Agreement (13 months) while the credit facility is being fully funded.

Furthermore, such investment shall be made subject to the Deposit (Account) Agreement, which we have reviewed, and which will be fully executed by all relevant parties when the time comes.

3) Bank Instrument POF Requirements

Utilization of a Bank Instrument (SBLC or BG) to position the deposit is available on a case by case basis and use of it must be pre-approved by the lender in advance of your submission.

4X Loan Application Proof of Funds Guidelines

Once approved these steps, described here for a deposit done via a bank instrument (SBLC or BG) must be followed and are non-negotiable. This is the only way to proceed if this is the "initial funds" method for your project.

Specifically, the lender needs the bank to send an email to be able to proceed with an application utilizing a bank instrument for the POF:

a) This Proof of Funds method requires this information be provided in a SINGLE EMAIL from the ISSUING BANK sent directly to the borrower which is then forwarded to us along with the loan application package and sent to the lender. The email must contain the following information:

i) The issuing bank's Stand By Letter of Credit verbiage (not the actual SBLC)

(ii) The issuing bank's Ready Willing and Able "RWA" verbiage (not the actual RWA)

iii) The Banker's Card (full contact details and title of the individual handling the transaction)

iv) Attached to this email should also be the POF what is backing the SBLC

This POF method requires direct bank to bank communication between the issuing bank and the receiving bank coordinated by the Deposit Agent.

IMPORTANT: We need the banker's email as outlined above PLUS the POF for the funds backing the instrument.

NOTE 1: Minimum face value of the SBLC to use this deposit method is $10M USD.

NOTE 2: It is important to know that SBLCs are evaluated by the receiving bank and the receiving bank will discount the instrument, typically offering around 75% of its face value. In order for the lender to tell you what level of discounting you will receive on the instrument you are presenting, we must have the email and information outlined here, to be able to provide you with that information.

Below is sample SBLC verbiage (note that the SBLC must conform to UCC600 standards). The additional assurance/guarantee relating to the SBLC is contained in a separate document drawn up by the banks and the lawyers, and is lodged along with the SBLC at the receiving bank. That assurance is this: ...the SBLC "must be non-depleted, unencumbered, and returned in 12 months plus one day" This is the assurance the issuing bank will have that the instrument will never be drawn against.

With this the issuing bank will be able to confirm for you and the 3rd Party Provider that the funds will continue to be held in their account and are completely safe from any risk.
